Contents

Letters from Merry del Val, mainly to Joseph Broadhead, with some to George Phillips. The letters are mostly of a personal nature but allude to his role as papal secretary of state and archpriest of St Peter's Basilica, including matters of Catholic protocol, the arrangement of papal audiences, his meetings with various Catholic notables, Ushaw College during the First World War and its aftermath, discussions of appointments to episcopal positions, as well as references to various religious and political controversies, most notably involving Theodore Roosevelt. They also include 11 photographs of Ushaw College, St Peter's Basilica, Merry del Val, and Joseph Broadhead.

About the creator

Raphael Merry del Val was born in London in 1865. After studying in England and Belgium, he began seminary training at Ushaw College before transferring to the Pontifical Scots College in Rome in 1885. Following Pope Leo XIII's wishes, he was ordained at the Pontificia Accademia dei Nobili Ecclesiastici in December 1888. He entered the papal diplomatic service as a chamberlain and developed an enthusiasm for the conversion of England. This led him to contribute towards the preparation of the apostolic letters Amantissimae voluntatis and Apostolicae curae between 1895 and 1896, and he was appointed apostolic delegate to Canada in the following year (1897). He was also appointed president of the Accademia dei Nobili Ecclesiastici in 1900.

Immediately following the election of Pius X as pope in October 1903, Merry del Val was offered the position of papal secretary of state and was created a cardinal. In this appointment, he not only developed a close relationship with the pope, becoming his closest advisor and counsellor, but he also courted controversy through the publication in the Socialist journal, L'Humanité, of a petition of protest against the visit of the French president, Loubert, to the King of Italy in Rome. Pius X's death in 1914 ended Merry del Val's involvement in politics but he continued to remain prominent in public life as the archpriest of St Peter's Basilica, secretary of the Holy Office, member of several Roman congregations, and papal legate to Assisi. He died in 1953 and was buried in the grotto of St Peter's Basilica at the foot of Pius X's tomb.

Provenance

Presented to Ushaw College by Dr E. Towers, 29 January 1948.

UC/P17/1 10 October 1894

Letter from Merry del Val to Bishop Thomas Wilkinson: having conveyed a message of loyalty to the pope (which dwelt on Douai, Catholic heroes, Julian Watts Russell, and Ushaw's importance in Catholic life), passing on the pope's blessings and indulgences.

4f

UC/P17/2 18 April 1900

Letter from Merry del Val to J. Broadhead: his appointment as titular archbishop of Nicaea.

2f

UC/P17/3 7 July 1900

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: thanking him for his congratulations, suggesting that the Ushaw Magazine has exaggerated his merits.

2f

UC/P17/4 2 April 1903

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: the difficulty of arranging an audience for Mr Pyke and Mr Walmsley with the pope owing to his health, rejecting the possibility of becoming the new archbishop of Westminster believing that his name alone would rule him out.

1f

UC/P17/5 29 October 1903

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: his cardinalate, believing it to be a "death sentence".

1f

UC/P17/6 14 April 1906

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: believing it to be unlikely that a dispensation will be given to H. Burton to say mass without a server, his inability to assist in the matter.

1f

UC/P17/7 27 October 1906

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: his weariness at the continual fight for the faith and the Church, the unlikelihood of carrying out the favour which [?Thomas] Wilkinson requires.

2f

UC/P17/8 30 December 1906

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: the misrepresentation of the Catholic Church in the English press, his belief that the struggle is for Christianity, God and religion and not for politics, his determination not to give up the battle.

1f

UC/P17/9 27-28 January 1907

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: his donation of £20 to the Ushaw Centenary Fund, his inability to leave Rome to attend the ceremony. Includes a telegram promising £20 (sent the following day).

2f

UC/P17/10 19 September 1907

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: the hostility of the French masons and their campaign of secularism, their attempts to get rid of Merry del Val.

1f

UC/P17/11 17 January 1908

Letter from Merry del Val to Broadhead: the Ushaw College centenary celebrations and recommendations for its future, including the possibility of it becoming a pontifical college, receiving a plenary indulgence, the appointment of a professor to a monsignor, criticism of W. Ward who teaches unsound doctrines.

2f
